Wyoming Soldiers to receive phone cards upon return

CHEYENNE – More than 1,000 phone cards have been collected for Wyoming Army National Guard Soldiers preparing to return from Operation Iraqi Freedom.

“Soldier Phone Home,” a Wyoming Army National Guard Yellow Ribbon Program initiative, collected phone cards with the help of Cell Phones for Soldiers regional director Earl “Scotty” MacKenzie.

The 100-minute phone cards will be provided to Soldiers upon their return to the country to allow them to reach out to benefit providers, employers, family members and other Soldiers.

“Wyoming residents jumped at the opportunity to support our Soldiers,” said Capt. Jeremy Sparks, Wyoming Army National Guard Yellow Ribbon Program coordinator. “With Mr. MacKenzie’s help, we reached our goal. His passion for the military is as great now as it was when he was fighting in World War II.”
