84th Civil Support Team training scheduled

CHEYENNE – The Wyoming National Guard’s 84th Civil Support Team will be conducting training exercises in support of the Laramie County Emergency Management between April 5-10, in the Cheyenne area.

The CST regularly trains to assist with local emergency officials to identify potentially hazardous substances. This upcoming training exercise will enhance the readiness of state and local responders.

“It is important we train with our local officials to ensure when a real-world incident occurs, all of us are familiar with each other and know how each organization operates,” said Lt. Col. Clay Fuller, director of military operations for the Wyoming National Guard.
